

2007

I'd like to take this opportunity to congratulate the Class of 2007 and dedicate my initial comments to your very special accomplishment. Most of you entered school at the age of 5 – back in 1994. I imagine your parents might remember that time a little bit better than you do – the excitement of the first day of school, meeting new friends, and learning to read and write.

Through elementary, middle and high school, you learned how to connect ideas, express yourself, and work closely with others. You studied subjects such as English, math, social studies, science, and foreign languages. In fact, to achieve this high school diploma you met standards that are among the highest we've ever had in this state. Take a moment to appreciate that. Many of you also took advantage of extra-curricular activities. You challenged yourself and found meaningful ways to grow through athletics, arts, school clubs, part-time jobs and community service. But, in 20 years when you reflect on this special day, it's not the things you've accomplished that you'll likely remember. It's the people who have inspired you and made you a better person. Think about the people who have touched your life while you've worked hard to achieve your goals . . . the love of your parents, the support of your teachers and other school staff, the care and concern of your friends. Take a moment to embrace both the memories and the actual people who have made this journey special for you.

The exciting thing, of course, is that your journey is just beginning, for those who are graduating this year and for those students who will be returning to Pacific High School in 2007-08. Right now, you are at a place in life full of opportunity and adventure. The choices you make over the next several years will determine how your adult life unfolds.

Here are three suggestions to all our students at Pacific as you head down the path of life. An easy way to remember these three suggestions is the word CAN. The letters "C" "A" and "N" each stand for important things to keep in mind.

The "C" stands for care. Care about people. Care about the world. Care about your past, present and future. The care and commitment we show to ourselves and to others enriches our lives and makes each day more meaningful. It sets the stage for a happy life.

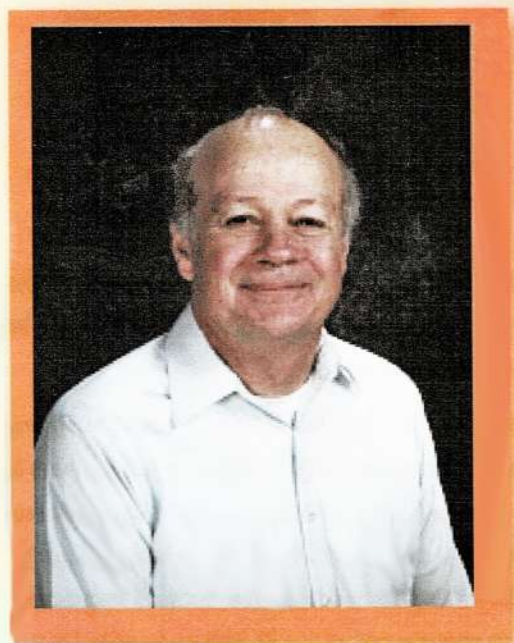

The "A" stands for "Aim high." Whether or not you achieved all you set out to in high school, you have a new opportunity now to accomplish great things. Believe in yourself and that you can do anything you set your mind to. And remember to take risks. In a survey of senior citizens, the majority said the thing they regret most in life is not taking more risks. They gave up on their dreams because of doubts and fears. They didn't push themselves to try something really big . . . and years later, they regretted it. Don't let that happen to you. Remember that you control your future. Dream big – and follow your heart.

The "N" stands for "Never stop learning." Life is all about learning. We learn from books, we learn from experiences, and we learn from each other. Learning awakens our minds and allows us to grow as individuals and contribute to society. Never stop learning.

To all the students at Pacific High this year, I am very proud of you, and I know that you CAN do it. Remember to care, aim high, and never stop learning. I expect great things from all of you!

SCIENCE FAIR

The title 'SCIENCE FAIR' is written in large, blue, sans-serif capital letters. Above the text are five colorful icons: a molecular model, a beaker with a thermometer, a DNA double helix, a magnifying glass over a cell diagram, and an atomic model. The background is white with several light blue spheres scattered around the text.
